THE GOVERNOR'S VISIT.

A Great Speech in Store for our People.

Gov. Brown writes that he will arrive on the 10:25 train this evening. He will be met at the depot by a reception committee and by the Latham Light Guards under Capt. Tandy, who will escort the distinguished visitor to the Phoenix Hotel, where rooms have been engaged for him.

The Governor will probably be accompanied by his son, Dr. John Young Brown, and Mr. Frank B. Richardson will also accompany him as far as Pembroke.

After breakfast to-morrow morning an informal reception will be given the Governor by the people of the city and county, who are anxious to meet the executive of the State and assure him in person of their approval of the firm and decisive course he has pursued in the transaction of the public business and in dealing with the gang of conspirators who are striving to inject jobbery into the legislation of the General Assembly. The people are with Gov. Brown in the patriotic stand he has taken and they recognize in him an executive who has the ability, the patriotism and the courage to perform his whole duty fearlessly and impartially.

Gov. Brown will discuss the issues of the campaign in the same matterly manner that invariably characterizes his public utterances. He will undoubtedly have a magnificent crowd to greet him, as the people will come in from all parts of the county to hear him preach the gospel of unadulterated democracy.

The speaking is announced for 1 p. m., but it will hardly begin before 1:30.

Oct. 31, Nov. 1, Nov. 2.

After a good deal of uncertainty in the matter, Judge Morrow and Clerk Prowse have finally settled upon the interpretation of the election law in regard to supplemental registration.

"Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday preceding the election" will be construed to mean the three first days of the preceding week. These days will therefore be Monday Oct. 31, Tuesday Nov. 1, and Wednesday Nov. 2. City voters who have not registered for good and lawful causes can therefore do so on these three days and none others. Of course all country voters can vote whether they are registered or not.

Dr. Clardy's Speeches.

From somebody's oversight or misunderstanding the fact that Dr. Clardy was to speak yesterday was not advertised, nevertheless, a fair audience gathered at the Court-house composed for the most part of farmers. It is regretted that a larger audience was not present as, barring Mr. Crisp great effort, the speech was probably the most practical and effective of any delivered in this city during the campaign. It was a great and effective speech.—Henderson Journal.

Dr. J. D. Clardy, of Christian county, spoke at Knottville yesterday afternoon to a big crowd. He discussed the issues of the day in a manner calculated to set his hearers to thinking. He explained the Force bill as advocated by Dr. Kimbly, and showed that it meant the subjugation of the whole country for ever by the Republican party. All the evils complained of by the farmer he showed to be directly traceable to the tariff. He said he was in favor of the free coinage of silver, but that free silver would only give a temporary relief to the people, and without tariff reform would possibly add a more grievous burden to the load they already carry. He appealed to the reason of those Democrats who have strayed off into the Third party to come back and help win a victory for the people against the tariff robbery and the Force bill. Ben Birkhead attempted to answer Dr. Clardy, but his argument scattered itself badly and was effectually disposed of by the doctor in his reply. The Democrats were greatly encouraged by Dr. Clardy's speech and say they are going to carry Knottville, whatever happens.—Owensboro Messenger.
